

For Immediate Release

Snagged!

Zack Hample joins the Pitch In For Baseball team

New York, NY - March 9, 2009 - Just when the Hot Stove League appeared to be drying up, the dominant player at his position has found his team for 2009. Zack Hample, the recognized leader of snagging baseballs at MLB ballparks, will be bringing his unique talents to the non profit organization Pitch In For Baseball® during the 2009 season.

Zack's credentials place him at the pinnacle of baseball collectors. Since 1990, he has grabbed more than 3,800 baseballs at 44 different MLB stadiums. What makes this season of snagging so different, however, is that Zack will now be using his unparalleled skills to further the mission of youth baseball and softball non profit partner, Pitch In For Baseball.

Zack's plan is simple. He will visit various stadiums, snagging baseballs with his usual array of tricks and insights (he can ask for a ball in over 30 languages). Historically, he has been able to accumulate 200-300 balls per season, including balls from batting practice and live play. Individuals and corporate partners can pledge any amount of money for each ball he grabs during the 2009 season by visiting www.zackhample.com/charity.php.

Zack's goal for the season is to raise at least $50,000. That translates to 1,000 supporters donating 25 cents for a projected 200 balls snagged. Of course, Zack hopes more than 1,000 supporters join the "Sultan of Snag" and he also hopes to reel in more than 200 balls.

"I love baseball and I love kids," says Zack. "Getting to snag baseballs for a charity that combines both is a dream come true. I can't wait for Opening Day!"

Zack will be opening the season with a trip to Toronto April 6-9 in pursuit of Gary Sheffield's 500th career home run ball and any other ball he can grab during that series.

Pitch In For Baseball collects and redistributes new and "gently used" youth baseball equipment to needy children both here in the U.S. and around the world. "We are delighted to be able to bring Zack onto our team," says David Rhode, Executive Director of Pitch In For Baseball. "His passion and the passion of his many followers provide a unique and fun way for baseball fans to support our charitable mission."

=====

About Zack Hample

Zack lives in New York City. He has written two books -- How to Snag Major League Baseballs (1999) and Watching Baseball Smarter (2007) -- and has a third on the way (2011) about what else? Baseball! You can watch Zack on YouTube or contact him at 212-877-5568 or zack@zackhample.com.

About Pitch In For Baseball

Founded in 2005, Pitch In For Baseball (PIFB) (www.pitchinforbaseball.org) is the central organization for the collection and redistribution of new and gently used youth baseball and softball equipment to underserved communities both in the U.S. and around the world. PIFB has distributed equipment and uniforms to more than 50 countries worldwide and more than 100 communities around the United States impacting over 60,000 children in need. Based outside of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania PIFB is 501 c 3 not for profit organization. Contact Executive Director, David Rhode at 215-479-5293 or drhode@pitchinforbaseball.org.

###